PhilHealth doubles members' premiums

Manila, Philippines — The Philippine Health Insurance Corporation (PhilHealth) has announced a 100% increase in the premiums for its members starting in 2014. The move is part of a broader effort to fund the expansion of the country's universal health coverage program.

PhilHealth officials said the increase is necessary to cover the rising costs of medical services and to ensure the sustainability of the health insurance system. The new rates will be applied to all members, including those who have been in the program for many years.

The increase is expected to generate additional revenue that will be used to improve the quality of healthcare services and to expand the network of hospitals and clinics covered by the program.

However, the increase has raised concerns among some members, particularly those with lower incomes, who may find it difficult to afford the higher premiums. PhilHealth officials have said they will continue to monitor the situation and may consider providing subsidies for certain groups of people.

1. The first step is to identify the key components of the system. This includes understanding the hardware, software, and data involved.

2. Next, we need to define the goals and objectives of the project. This will help us determine what we are trying to achieve and how we will measure success.

3. Once the goals are defined, we can begin to design the system. This involves creating a detailed plan that outlines the architecture, components, and data flow.

4. After the design is complete, we can begin to implement the system. This involves writing the code, configuring the hardware, and testing the system.

5. Finally, we need to deploy the system and monitor its performance. This involves installing the system on the target environment and ensuring that it is running smoothly.

MANILA (Philippine Daily Inquirer) — A sprawling, modern house in Negros Occidental is home to a collection of art and furniture that is as impressive as the architecture itself.
